COTSWOLD
FOOD
NETWORK

What is the Cotswold Food Network?

An informal network of organisations, groups, and individuals, working together with the aim that everyone in Cotswold district has a range of suitable food options (for example, that are accessible, affordable, healthy, etc).

How does the Food Network operate?

- Led by its membership.
- Through collaboration and partnership with voluntary, community, and statutory sector organisations and with local communities.
- Working across several priorities that are connected, such as financial inclusion and food provision for communities.
- Using knowledge exchange, sharing local intelligence, information and data, to inform what we do.
- Taking a systems approach whereby improving food access and availability, is aimed to bring wider and sustainable benefits to the local environment and economy.

To find out more or become involved

Cotswold District Council's website: cotswold.gov.uk/communities-and-leisure/support-for-communities/community-wellbeing/food-sustainability/
Contact Martin Hawkins, Community Support Officer, Cotswold DC:
martin.hawkins@cotswold.gov.uk or 07743 172 287

COTSWOLD
District Council